Stories from Under the Broom Tree

Sara & Isaak Unger

SOLITUDE IS NOT IDLENESS!

Isaak and Sara are Canadian missionaries who served in Bolivia for the last five years. They returned to Canada in December of 2008 after a very difficult term. Soon after this, the people in their church told them that they had arranged for the Ungers to go to a Broom Tree Retreat in February of 2009. Not knowing what that retreat would look like and being a little over whelmed with the culture shock many missionaries feel when they return to the US and Canada, they really did not want to come to the retreat. They were so overwhelmed with all that they needed to do, important things, and really felt the weight of these obligations. But their church expected them to come to the retreat and so they drove to 'The Shack, in Michigan.

Some of you prayed for this couple or just prayed for the retreat in general. Thank you. What God did with your prayers for them, they could never have imagined. As the week progressed you could see life come back to their tired faces and by Thursday evening they were totally connected with all the other people at the retreat. That evening all the pastors spontaneously gathered around them and prayed for them - for healing of Sara's pain, for stamina and direction for their future.

A recent email from the Ungers said, "Our God is an awesome God. I want to share with you so that you can praise the Lord with us that I have been pain free since a week after we came home from that Retreat. Thank you once again for praying for me!" Two other of their prayer requests have also been answered. When we take the time to really be still before Him, God is very busy.
